THE SOUTHERN GUJARAT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE & INDUSTRY
ACT WITH ONE MIND

ACTIVITIES OF SGCCI

From the President's Desk

The important exhibition of the Southern Gujarat Chamber of Commerce and Industry, Yam Expo 2025, was successfully held. The exhibition received an overwhelming response from industrialists and traders. Genuine buyers from across the country visited the exhibition, resulting in a large number of orders for the exhibitors.

With the aim of enhancing global trade and cultural cooperation, at the invitation of the Southern Gujarat Chamber of Commerce and Industry, His Excellency Dr. C.G.D.N. Chiwenga, Vice President (Retd.) of Zimbabwe, along with his spouse and a high-level delegation, visited Surat for two days.

At the Chalo Zimbabwe program organised by the Chamber of Commerce, he engaged in direct dialogue with industrialists and traders, highlighting vast investment opportunities in sectors such as mining, textiles, agriculture, renewable energy, pharmaceuticals, and tourism. The high-level delegation from Zimbabwe encouraged industrialists and businesspersons from Surat and the broader South Gujarat region to explore business opportunities with Zimbabwe.

To the pharmaceutical industrialists of South Gujarat, Zimbabwe presented significant opportunities for investment in its pharmaceutical sector and modernisation initiatives. Additionally, in mining and mineral value addition, there are vast prospects across more than 60 minerals, including lithium, gold, platinum, and diamonds, as well as in lithium batteries, mineral processing, and diamond cutting-polishing. In the energy and renewables sector, substantial investment opportunities exist in solar, hydro, and biomass projects. The Vice President of Zimbabwe also invited industrialists from South Gujarat to invest in Zimbabwe's MICE infrastructure and cricket stadium projects.

The Chamber of Commerce held a meeting in New Delhi with delegations from international countries such as Indonesia and Ethiopia. Notably, the meeting with Indonesia's Minister Counsellor involved important discussions on bilateral trade between India and Indonesia, opportunities for export-import, and directions for industrial cooperation.

Under the Gujarat Government's Textile Policy-2024, a guideline on industrial incentives for industries has been released, which will further promote industrial development. During this period, an Income Tax Conclave was also held, where Shri Satish Sharma, Principal Chief Commissioner of Income Tax, Gujarat, explained policies and regulations to industrialists.

SGCCI organised a seminar on "Trump Tariff War: Deal or No Deal," in which experts highlighted to Surat exporters the necessity of exploring alternative markets. Guidance was also provided on increasing trade with Europe, Japan, Korea, Latin America, and Africa. Through all these initiatives and activities, the Chamber of Commerce continues to strive to provide new directions to the industries of South Gujarat.

Jai Hind, Jai Jai Garvi Gujarat!

From the Vice President's Desk

The city of Surat and the textile industry – both are integral parts of my life's identity. For me, this industry is not merely a source of livelihood; it is the purpose and passion of my existence. The dedication, skill and perseverance of Surat's weavers, manufacturers, and entrepreneurs have transformed this industry into a vital pillar of India's economy. It is my privilege and honor to have played an active role in this inspiring journey. For me, The Southern Gujarat Chamber of Commerce and Industry has been the finest platform to serve this noble cause.

From the very beginning of my journey as a textile fabric manufacturer, I have always believed that the progress of industry is the prosperity of society. With this conviction, I have consistently endeavored to ensure that my contribution extends beyond my own business – to provide new directions and opportunities for the entire textile fraternity.

I had the privilege of serving for many years as the President of the Federation of Gujarat Weavers Association (FOGWA), and today, that commitment continues through my role in The Southern Gujarat Chamber of Commerce and Industry (SGCCI). During this period, I have made several representations at both the state and national levels for the welfare of the textile industry. From the looms of Gujarat to the corridors of the Government of India, wherever the industry's voice needed to be heard, I strived to represent it with clarity and courage.

Building and maintaining positive relationships with policymakers and the administrative system has always been my priority. My years of experience have taught me that meaningful policy reforms can only be achieved when the voice of industry is presented factually, thoughtfully, and with mutual respect. Today, as Vice President of SGCCI, I continue to channel this experience for the greater benefit of our Chamber. From Gandhinagar to New Delhi, our team remains consistently active in pursuing practical solutions to the concerns of the industry.

As a delegation of the Chamber, we frequently engage with government departments at both the state and central levels to advocate for progressive textile policies, export incentives, infrastructure improvements, duty structure rationalization, and MSME reforms. I take pride in the fact that, through our collective determination, clarity of vision, and constructive dialogue, the Chamber has been able to achieve meaningful and tangible results on several crucial issues.

I firmly believe that the progress of industry should never be measured merely within the confines of factory walls – it must be reflected in the holistic growth of the city, society, and nation. Guided by this philosophy, I remain committed to strengthening the Chamber as a dynamic, responsive, and forward-looking organization.

Recently, under the leadership of our President Shri Nikhilbhai Madral and myself, an SGCCI delegation participated in the ITMA ASIA + CITME International Textile Machinery Exhibition held in Singapore. This visit provided us a valuable opportunity to explore cutting-edge technologies, robotic systems, innovative textile machinery, and emerging global trends. To share these insights with the industrial community of Surat, the Chamber is organizing special sessions so that our entrepreneurs can prepare to compete more effectively in the global marketplace.

My vision is crystal clear –

"To place Surat at the top of the global textile map is our collective mission."

With this shared goal, my team and I continue to guide entrepreneurs on technology upgradation, global marketing strategies, export development, and the modernization of the MSME sector.

For me, the Chamber is not merely a position – it is a commitment of service and a pledge of purpose. I firmly believe that every entrepreneur's success is the Chamber's strength, and every young industrialist's inspiration is the future of Surat's textile legacy.

It is my heartfelt desire that in the years ahead, the phrase "Made in Surat" will not remain just a label – but will stand as a symbol of quality, integrity, and trustworthiness, proudly recognized across the world.

From the Editor's Desk

The Southern Gujarat Chamber of Commerce & Industry (SGCCI) today stands as a symbol of renewed energy, progressive thought, and dynamic growth. Under the firm and visionary leadership of Mr. Nikhilbhai Madrasai, President of SGCCI, the Chamber's every activity and initiative reflects a unified vision, enthusiasm, and excellence.

Mr. Madrasai's vast industrial experience, organizational ability, wide network, and personal involvement in day-to-day operations are taking the Chamber to new heights. His inherent desire "to achieve the best," his meticulous planning, and his strong sense of teamwork have infused fresh vitality into every wing of the Chamber. His close association with staff and members, and his guiding approach, have enhanced SGCCI's prestige and collective strength.

From addressing the key issues of industries and trade to leading international delegations and signing cooperation agreements, SGCCI under his leadership is expanding its reach and reputation on the global stage.

His constant focus on monitoring crucial industrial concerns, representing them effectively at the appropriate forums, and achieving beneficial outcomes for the business community is truly praiseworthy. Especially in the fields of Education and Skill Development, the Chamber's initiatives have become guiding lights for the new generation of entrepreneurs.

The textile sector has always been the hallmark of SGCCI, and today, the Chamber's Textile Exhibitions have not only earned immense popularity but have also emerged as excellent revenue generators. Alongside, several MoUs (Memorandums of Understanding) signed at the national and international levels have further strengthened the Chamber's global network and recognition.

The recently launched "Weekly Industry Visit" program has proved to be a thoughtful and successful initiative. It offers entrepreneurs a unique opportunity to experience new technologies, management systems, and innovations firsthand – turning learning into a practical and engaging experience.

Simultaneously, SGCCI has also taken commendable steps in the field of health awareness. The Health and Medical Awareness Seminars, organized every Sunday, have been highly beneficial for members and their families. Topics such as stress management, heart care, diabetes, yoga, and nutrition are addressed by expert doctors and specialists, receiving an enthusiastic response from the business community.

SGCCI's flagship initiative SBC - Surat Business Connect has evolved into an outstanding platform for business networking, knowledge exchange, and mutual cooperation among members. Building upon this success, the Chamber has recently launched the new branch STBC - Surat Textile Business Connect, which, within a short time since its inception, has gained steady momentum and direction. These new verticals aim to bring together entrepreneurs from the textile sector to encourage dialogue, collaboration, collective growth, and technology exchange – opening new avenues of opportunity.

The Women's Wing of SGCCI has also emerged as a vibrant force closely associated with the spirit of Samruddhi. Their various cultural and social programs have received overwhelming participation and appreciation. The recently organized Navratri Dandiya Mahotsav was a colourful celebration filled with music, joy, and enthusiasm – a true reflection of unity and festive spirit within the SGCCI family.

Thus, SGCCI today is not merely an organization representing the business and industrial community, but a comprehensive institution harmoniously integrating Health, Education, Skill, Ethics, and Culture – becoming a true centre of holistic growth and development.

Under the determined, visionary, and dedicated leadership of Mr. Nikhilbhai Madrasai, the Chamber is poised to write many new chapters of industrial progress, innovation, and global collaboration – truly living up to the spirit and meaning of the word "Samruddhi."

Exhibition and Convention Centre in Sarsana. On the very first day of the Yarn Expo, international buyers from Switzerland, the Czech Republic, and Bangladesh attended.

The Yarn Expo was inaugurated on Friday, 1st August 2025, at 10:00 AM. The inauguration ceremony was held at Seminar Hall-A, SIECC.

Modani, Vice Chairman of Sangam India Limited; and Mr. Durai Palanisami, Executive Director of Pallava Group.

Chamber of Commerce President Mr. Nikhil Madrasi stated that the Yarn Expo was organised by the Chamber with the aim of accelerating the growth of Surat's textile industry and providing entrepreneurs with insights into the latest yarn production technologies. This year marked the 7th edition of the Yarn Expo. The exhibition featured participation from 80 exhibitors across India, including cities such as Surat, Ahmedabad, Vadodara, Navsari, Mumbai, Erode, Coimbatore, Hugli (West Bengal), Ludhiana (Punjab), Bengaluru, Silvassa, Panipat (Haryana), Kolkata, Namkhal (Tamil Nadu), Rajkot, Gir Somnath, Daman, Bhanuch, Chennai, Raipur (Chhattisgarh), and Nagpur.

Mr. J. Raghunath, Senior Vice President of Reliance Industries Limited, stated that in 1981, the monthly consumption of polyester yarn was 150 tons, which has now increased to 100 lakh tons per month. Therefore, the Yarn Expo-2025, organised by the Chamber of Commerce, will play a significant role in making India a global textile powerhouse. This expo provides a platform for yarn producers, corporates, and entrepreneurs to share their ideas and expertise. Major buyers at the expo engage directly with exhibitors to identify and procure products that match their needs. The Yarn Expo is not just a textile exhibition but a blueprint for the future, emphasising collaboration and collective growth.

Currently, the consumption of MMF (Man-Made Fibres) is increasing, and domestic customer demand continues to grow. With fashion trends changing rapidly, MMF is the only solution to meet this demand. MMF has now reached a level of global competitiveness. Polyester is growing at a rate of 6-7% annually, while technical textiles are growing at 10-15% per year. The Yam Expo attracts participation from corporates to MSMEs, providing a crucial platform for young entrepreneurs to step forward. Additionally, Mr. Raghunath highlighted insights on smart manufacturing, AI-based quality control, digital marketing, technical textiles, fashion technology, 3D garments, and skill training.

Mr. Satyaki Ghosh, CEO of the Fashion Yam Business at Grasim Industries Limited, provided entrepreneurs with information about viscose filament yarn.

Dr. S.N. Modani, Vice Chairman of Sangam India Limited, stated that India has both textile manufacturing and consumption. He provided insights on technical textiles, industrial applications, and sustainable, eco-friendly products.

Mr. Durai Palanisami, Executive Director of the Pallava Group, also addressed the entrepreneurs and shared insights on textile development.

Chamber Vice President Mr. Ashok Jirawala expressed gratitude to all attendees at the inauguration ceremony. Chamber Executive Honorary Secretary Mr. Bhavesh Tailor conducted the event and introduced the distinguished guests. Mr. Giridhar Gopal Mandra, Chairman of the Yam Expo, provided details about the exhibition. The ceremony was also attended by former Chamber President Mr. Vijay Mevawala, Hon. Treasurer CA Mitish Modi, All Exhibitions Chairman Mr. Kiran Thummar, past presidents, sponsors, exhibitors, buyers from other countries, entrepreneurs, and yarn traders.

The fashion show organised by Surat's renowned brand, Righan Fashions (Liberty), created a sensation.

Mr. Dinesh Dhankani and Ms. Karishma Dhankani, directors of Surat's renowned brand Righan Fashions (Liberty) Group, added a special flair to the Yam Expo by organising fashion shows every two hours. These shows featured students associated with various fashion institutes and famous models from the fashion world. At one point, entries to the fashion show had to be temporarily closed due to overwhelming response.

Income Tax Conclave, where Shri Satish Sharma, Principal Chief Commissioner of Income Tax, Gujarat, addressed industrialists, CA, Tax consultants, business professionals, and taxpayers

Shri Satish Sharma, Principal Chief Commissioner of Income Tax, Gujarat, stated that professionals, taxpayers, and the business community have played a significant role in the historic growth achieved in project tax collection by the Income Tax Department.

The Southern Gujarat Chamber of Commerce & Industry, in collaboration with the All Gujarat Federation of Tax Consultants and the Gujarat State Tax Bar Association, jointly organised the 'Income Tax Conclave' on Friday, 8th August 2025, from 10:00 AM to 3:00 PM at Platinum Hall, Sarsana, Surat. Shri Satish Sharma (IRS), Principal Chief Commissioner of Income Tax, Gujarat, graced the event as the Chief Guest and engaged in direct interaction with Surat's industrialists, chartered accountants, tax consultants, business professionals, and taxpayers.

The President of the Chamber of Commerce, Shri Nikhil Madrasi, stated that even today, India's tax structure often feels more like a maze than a plan. Over 90% of disputes arise from issues of interpretation. He emphasised that if we want people to comply, we must first help them understand the system. He further added that with MSMEs in Surat and South Gujarat progressing and income tax filings increasing, the system should respond with support rather than a penalty when genuine mistakes occur. Mistakes made out of ignorance deserve empathy, not punishment.

Shri Satish Sharma (IRS), Principal Chief Commissioner of Income Tax, Gujarat, stated that the Income Tax Department's project tax collection has witnessed unprecedented growth over the last 35 years. The collection has increased from ₹10,000 crore at that time to the current ₹2,25,000 lakh crore. He emphasised that this success is not only due to the department but also reflects the significant contribution of professionals, taxpayers, and the business community, and this growth is a marker of holistic societal development.

Presenting the data, he stated that 35 years ago, the number of income tax return filings was 40 lakhs, whereas now it has crossed 9 crores. The faceless assessment system implemented by the Income Tax Department has been well accepted by most stakeholders, and the use of technology has brought speed and transparency to the compliance process.

Additionally, providing statistical information, he stated that the transactions captured by the Income Tax Department include salary-related transactions of Rs. 42 lakh crore, savings bank interest of Rs. 140 lakh crore, fixed deposit interest of Rs. 8.50 lakh crore, and rent interest of Rs. 5.50 lakh crore. The department's important technological projects include Data Warehouse and Business Intelligence, through which transactions worth approximately Rs. 600 lakh crore have been captured.

Mr. Satish Sharma (IRS) stated that, at one time, reporting of interest income in the salary class or capital gains in returns was very limited. However, due to the awareness efforts by professionals, the situation is improving today. Sending a clear message to professionals and taxpayers, he said that what is wrong is wrong. Whether it happens by mistake or for other reasons, the department has provided a mechanism for filing updated returns to correct it. Earlier, this was allowed for two years; now it has been extended to four years. Therefore, it is everyone's duty to comply responsibly.

In this conclave, as an expert speaker, Advocate Mr. Manish Shah from the Gujarat High Court provided insights on various important issues and challenges that arise in the daily functioning before tax authorities and the courts.

Mr. Tapas Rupareliya

How Ayurvedic and Yoga therapies can bring transformative changes in life

On Tuesday, 12th August 2025, at 4:00 PM the Southern Gujarat Chamber of Commerce & Industry organised a session at Samruddhi Nanpura, Surat, on how Ayurvedic and Yoga therapies can bring transformative changes in life. During the session, Mr. Ghanshyam Lukhi, Managing Director of Tapi Fruit Processing Limited, shared his extensive knowledge and experiences related to Yoga.

Chamber of Commerce Vice President Mr. Ashok Jirawala stated that in our busy professional lives, amidst targets, meetings, deadlines, and constant competition, we often pay very little attention to our health. Just as capital and strategy are essential for business success, a healthy mind and a healthy body are equally important. Yoga helps in maintaining overall health and well-being.

Mr. Ghanshyam Lukhi, Managing Director of Tapi Fruit Processing Limited, stated that Ayurvedic practices and yoga therapy not only promote physical health but also enhance mental peace, boost immunity, and improve overall quality of life. Regular yoga practice combined with a balanced and sattvic diet can bring about long-term positive changes in life.

He explained that yoga detoxifies the body and, simultaneously, purifies the mind. Along with yoga, the diet should also be sattvic. The body remains balanced only when the mind is balanced, and yoga helps achieve that mental balance. He further mentioned that many people have benefited from practising pranayama. Most individuals remain stressed due to excessive thinking—not productive thoughts, but non-productive ones—which keeps them in constant tension. Yoga gradually stabilises these thoughts, reducing stress over time.

He said that both Ayurveda and Yoga are ancient Indian traditions, but unfortunately, it is ironic that these practices often gain recognition abroad before being fully embraced in India. It is only when Yoga becomes popular internationally that people in India begin to adopt it, which he considers a matter of regret.

Dr. Mansha, Chairperson of the Chamber's AYUSH Committee, outlined the framework of the program. Dr. Nipesh Patel, Co-Chairman of the AYUSH Committee, introduced the speakers, while Co-Chairperson Dr. Parul Patel conducted the session. Committee member Mr. Chirag Gaffar extended thanks to all attendees present in the session. The speakers provided satisfactory responses to the queries of the industrialists and members present, following which the session concluded.

SGCCI Welcomes Reopening of PLI Scheme Window for Textiles

The President of the Southern Gujarat Chamber of Commerce & Industry, Mr. Nikhil Madrasai, said that following requests from textile industry stakeholders and the Chamber, the Ministry of Textiles has decided to invite fresh applications under the Production-Linked Incentive (PLI) scheme. Accordingly, the portal has been reopened, and industrialists can submit their applications until 31st August.

The Production-Linked Incentive (PLI) scheme for textiles was announced in 2021 with a budget of ₹10,683 crore. The aim of this scheme is to make the textile industry more competitive and generate more employment by promoting the production of man-made fibres (MMF), apparel, and fabrics.

Chamber Vice President Mr. Ashok Jirawala, former President Mr. Vijay Mevawala, Executive Hon. Secretary Mr. Bhavesh Tailor, and Hon. Treasurer CA Mitish Modi stated that this announcement comes amid the 50% tariff imposed by the United States. MMF (Man-Made Fibres) includes viscose, polyester, and acrylic, which are manufactured from chemicals. On the other hand, technical textiles represent the fabric of the new era, which can be used in the production of personal protective equipment (PPE) kits, airbags, bulletproof vests, and also find applications in aviation, defence, and infrastructural sectors.

So far, the central government has approved 80 applicants under the PLI scheme for textiles. In the current financial year, the government aims to allocate ₹500 crore as incentives under the PLI scheme. Over the next five years, this scheme is expected to attract new investments exceeding ₹19,000 crore and generate more than 7,50,000 jobs.

A session on "Trump Tariff War: Deal or No Deal – Why It Won't Matter Much for India"

Dr. Engineer Mr. Sunil Parekh stated that there is a need to explore alternative markets for products like textiles, diamonds, and chemicals, and that India, Europe, Japan, Korea, Latin American countries, and Africa could serve as potential export destinations.

On Monday, 18th August 2025, at 5:30 PM, the Southern Gujarat Chamber of Commerce & Industry organised an important session at Sanhati, Sarsana, Surat, on "Trump Tariff War: Deal or No Deal – Why It Won't Matter Much for India". The session featured Dr. Engineer Sunil Parekh (Chairman, CERC; Senior Strategy Advisor to Indian MNCs - Zydus Life Sciences & Jubilant Bharatia Group; Founding Curator, World Economic Forum Geneva @ AGS), who explained complex international economic issues in a very simple and easily understandable manner.

Chamber of Commerce President Mr. Nikhil Madrasai stated that the direct impact of the Trump tariff war on India is not expected to be significant. He emphasised that industrialists and exporters should view it not as a crisis, but as an opportunity. Despite being a short-term disruption, India's economy remains secure due to its strong domestic demand and solid fundamentals. Therefore, whether a deal happens or not, its effect on India will remain limited.

Dr. Engineer Mr. Sunil Parekh stated that in the financial year 2024-25, India's total exports amounted to USD 824.9 billion, of which the US share was USD 77.5 billion. Since exports form a relatively small portion of India's total GDP, experts believe that the long-term negative impact of the US Trump tariff war on India will be limited. This week, S&P Global Ratings upgraded India's credit rating by one notch, indicating that India's long-term growth potential remains strong. However, in the short term, the Trump tariff war could pose some risks to India's global trade, even as the country aims for the "Viksit Bharat 2047" target.

Mr. Nikhil Madrasi, President of SGCCI

India's key export products to the United States include textiles, pharmaceuticals, chemicals, and gems & jewellery. From Gujarat, the main exports to the US comprise diamonds, pharmaceuticals (currently duty-free), insecticides, bed linen, jewellery, tyres, electrical cables, plastics, and chemical products.

The US market is important for Gujarat, but given the global scenario, it is essential to quickly explore new markets. Sector-wise, pharma, semiconductors, energy, and electronics currently enjoy duty exemptions, reducing immediate risks for these sectors. However, for products like textiles, diamonds, and chemicals, alternative markets need to be explored. Europe, Japan, Korea, Latin American countries, and Africa can serve as potential export destinations for India. Additionally, BRICS countries can play an important role in maintaining the trade balance.

Dr. Engineer Sunil Parekh stated that Canada and Mexico are highly dependent on the US market for their exports. Approximately 78% of Canada's total exports and around 80% of Mexico's total exports go solely to the United States, making their exports extremely reliant on the US market. In contrast, less than 15% of China's total exports are directed to the US. Therefore, while additional tariffs imposed by the US would have an impact on China, the effect would be less severe compared to Canada and Mexico. The main reason is that China's export markets are highly diversified, reaching a large number of countries worldwide.

Dr. Engineer Mr. Sunil Parekh

If the US imposes an additional 25% customs tariff on Canada's and Mexico's exports, it would have a serious impact on their economies. Considering this situation, Canada, Mexico, and China are now actively seeking new markets outside the US. In particular, they are focusing on the European Union as an alternative to maintain a balance in their export destinations.

Mr. Parekh presented various solutions and options to address the situation arising from the Trump tariffs, detailing what could be done at the national level, chamber level, company level, and CEO level. Additionally, he highlighted that India should promptly sign a Free Trade Agreement with the organisation of 12 developed countries, including Japan and Korea (excluding China). This would help boost India's exports and mitigate the adverse effects of the Trump tariffs.

Mr. Ashok Jirawala, Vice President of the Chamber of Commerce, expressed his gratitude to all participants present at the session. The session was attended by former President Mr. Vijay Mevawala, Hon. Secretary Mr. Bijal Jariwala, Hon. Treasurer CA Mitish Modi, Past Presidents Mr. Ramesh Vaghasia and Mr. Sharadchandra Kapadiya, along with industrialists, traders, and exporters. The session was conducted by the Chamber's Group Chairman, Mr. Sanjay Panjabi. The speaker was introduced by Mr. Devkishan Manghani, Chairman of the SGCCI Global Connect Committee. The speaker addressed various questions from industrialists and exporters satisfactorily, after which the session concluded.

“Tariff be damned! Focus on your business!”

Under the Chamber's initiative, an engaging seminar titled "From Local to Global – Secrets of Import-Export" was organised, where experienced exporter Amit Mulani shared numerous practical tricks and insights.

On Monday, 18th August 2025, at 5:30 PM, the SGCCI Education and Skill Development Centre of the Southern Gujarat Chamber of Commerce & Industry successfully organised a distinguished seminar titled "From Local to Global - Unlock the Secrets of Export-Import" at Samruddhi Nanpura, Surat. The highly engaging and informative session saw enthusiastic participation from exporters, MSMEs, entrepreneurs, business professionals, and students aspiring to enter the world of international trade.

Experienced exporter, international trade expert, and corporate trainer Mr. Amit Mulani,

The business community of South Gujarat got to learn and understand international trade tricks, realising that no border can stop trade, no matter how challenging the situation, Chamber President Nikhil Madrasi.

was the chief speaker at this seminar. Through practical examples, Mr. Mulani shed light on the complexities of global trade and unveiled lesser-known strategies to succeed in today's highly competitive international business environment.

Addressing concerns over tariffs imposed by the U.S., he emphasised that exporters need not worry about them—the government will handle such issues; instead, businesses should focus on trade and quality. Citing a practical example, he noted that despite the suspension of trade between India and Pakistan after the Pulwama attack, data shows that trade continues. Much of it happens via third countries, particularly through Dubai and the UAE, from where it is re-exported. The key takeaway is that this 'backdoor trade' demonstrates the resilience of market forces even amid geopolitical obstacles. He stressed that in such strategies, careful verification of partners and strict adherence to international regulations are essential to mitigate risks.

Using this example, Mr. Mulani illustrated how to tackle U.S. tariffs and explained effective strategies for Indian exporters to bypass or minimise the impact of such tariffs.

Explaining a similar strategy, he highlighted frontloading shipments—accelerating exports before a tariff increase takes effect. For example, between April and July 2025, Indian exports to the U.S. saw a 21% rise. Another innovative approach is leveraging U.S. Foreign Trade Zones (FTZs), where goods can be stored, processed, or assembled without immediate tariff payment. He emphasised that exemptions for pharma and electronics under Trump's tariffs show the U.S. values Indian goods. Additionally, Mr. Mulani discussed tri-party deals with U.S. buyers, smart negotiations for tariff exemptions or reductions, value addition in products, and diversifying markets to reduce dependence on the U.S. He noted that these methods could comfortably offset a potential 10-15% tariff increase while providing long-term stability against trade uncertainties.

He stated that the key secrets of international trade include: avoiding costly delays through mastery of customs and regulatory compliance, building strong networks with verified buyers via trade fairs and digital platforms, and implementing robust export planning to safeguard against currency fluctuations and other risks.

Mr. Mulani explained that efficiency in international trade arises from comparative advantages. He also highlighted lesser-known strategies, such as using Incoterms (as defined by the International Chamber of Commerce) to clarify responsibilities in shipping, leveraging trade finance instruments like Letters of Credit for secure payments, and staying continuously updated on Free Trade Agreements (FTAs) to avail preferential tariffs.

The seminar offered insightful guidance on identifying and verifying genuine global buyers, understanding government incentives and export benefits available to Indian exporters, navigating customs, shipping, and logistics challenges with ease, and recognising the growing global demand for Indian products.

Regarding the outcomes of the seminar, the Chamber President, Mr. Nikhil Madrasi, stated that amidst tariff concerns, the seminar succeeded in injecting renewed energy and enthusiasm among both new and experienced exporters.

Quoting lines from the popular song of the film Border, Mr. Madrasi remarked that the seminar helped participants understand that no matter what happens, whether it's birds, rivers, winds, or storms, trade cannot be stopped by any border.

'Legal Conclave - 2025' at Platinum Hall

"Surat is renowned across the country as a vibrant destination. While people have faith in the courts, delays often lead them to experience frustration," said Hon'ble Chief Justice Sunita Agrawal of the Gujarat High Court

The Southern Gujarat Chamber of Commerce and Industry, in collaboration with The Surat City Advocates Association, organised the 'Legal Conclave - 2025' on Saturday, 23rd August 2025, at 10:00 AM at Platinum Hall, Sarasana, Surat. The Chief Guest Hon'ble Chief Justice Sunita Agrawal of the Gujarat High Court provided guidance to industrialists from South Gujarat, advocates, and law students.

Law for business is not just a matter of compliance; it is the cornerstone of trust. When cases remain pending or contracts take years to be enforced, it is not merely a legal delay but also an economic cost. Currently, over 1,70,000 cases are pending in the High Court of Gujarat, and approximately 17,00,000 cases are pending in district and subordinate courts. In family courts alone, more than 50,000 cases are unresolved. Each delay impacts families, businesses, and society as a whole."

These figures remind us that Commercial Courts, Arbitration, and Mediation are not merely technical terms, but are essential for a fast-paced economy like Gujarat's. A strong economy relies on a legal system where disputes are resolved fairly, efficiently, and with certainty.

Shri D.N. Rai
Hon'ble Judge of the
Gujarat High Court

Court Smt. Sunita Agrawal stated that Surat is renowned across the country as a vibrant destination. The Gujarat High Court works through ADR (Alternative Dispute Resolution) to ensure that people do not have to approach the court for justice—the court reaches the people. While people have faith in the courts, delays often lead them to experience frustration. Gujarat attracts significant domestic and foreign investments, and Commercial Courts instil confidence in investors that their capital and contractual rights will be legally protected.

In the business world, breaches of contracts, payment delays, and commercial disputes between companies can be resolved quickly, saving both time and costs for entrepreneurs. The operation of Commercial Courts in Gujarat's business hubs such as Surat, Ahmedabad, Vadodara, and Rajkot provides strong support to both local and international businesses.

She further stated that in Gujarat, the disposal rate of arbitration cases is 55%. For smaller disputes, if an internal dialogue does not lead to a settlement, citizens can obtain justice through a mediator instead of approaching the court. After providing training to 6 advocates as mediators, they are now serving in various parts of the state to ensure timely justice for people. For the people of Gujarat, two things are most important in life: first, family, and second, business.

During the technical session, Hon'ble Judge of the Gujarat High Court, Shri Pranav Trivedi stated that the simplest way to obtain justice without prolonged litigation in court is through ADR. In business, if a dispute remains unresolved for years, it leads to losses. Therefore, if the business community supports ADR, the justice process will certainly become faster. Arbitration involves a less formal procedure, saving time, while also maintaining confidentiality and preserving harmony between the parties involved.

Hon'ble Judge of the Gujarat High Court, Shri D.N. Rai, stated that in 2001, nearly two crore cases were pending in district courts across the country. Currently, approximately 4.72 crore cases are pending. ADR can play a crucial role in ensuring the speedy resolution of these cases. He also provided detailed information on the mediation process.

Chamber of Commerce Vice President, Shri Ashok Jirawala, Hon. Secretary Shri Bijal Jariwala, Hon. Treasurer CA Mitish Modi, Past Presidents, and industrialists were present at the event. Chamber's Group Chairman, Dr. Anil Sarawgi, conducted the conclave. Advocate Manish Gandhi, Advisor of the Chamber's Law and Compliance Committee, introduced the speakers, while Shri Ajay Mehta, Chairman of the Law and Compliance Committee, outlined the program.

At the conclusion, the judges provided satisfactory answers to all queries from the audience. Imm. Past President of the Chamber, Shri Vijay Mevawala, expressed gratitude to all attendees, after which the seminar was formally concluded.
